Asleep at the Wheel, Part 2

Discussion Questions:

1. According to 1 John 4:1-3, what does it mean to “test the spirits”? How should Christians evaluate religious claims, cultural ideas, and spiritual teaching through the truth about Jesus?
2. The sermon made a distinction between opposing an ideology and loving people. What does it practically look like to reject beliefs we believe are false while still treating Muslims with dignity, compassion, hospitality, and genuine love?
3. Why is the statement “Love is our playbook” so important in a conversation like this? How can Christians speak truth courageously without allowing fear, hatred, or hostility toward people to take over?
4. Read Acts 5:40-42. What gave the apostles courage to keep preaching when speaking about Jesus carried a real cost? Where might Christians today be tempted to stay silent because following Christ could cost reputation, comfort, relationships, or influence?
5. Ephesians 6:12 says our ultimate battle is not against flesh and blood. How should that truth change the way Christians think about people who oppose Christianity or hold radically different beliefs?
6. 2 Corinthians 10:3-5 describes spiritual weapons that destroy false arguments and bring thoughts under Christ’s authority. What are the weapons Christians should actually be using—prayer, Scripture, truth, evangelism, love, discipleship—and what worldly weapons or attitudes should we refuse?
7. John 16:33 reminds us that Jesus has already overcome the world. How should confidence in Christ’s victory change the way we respond to cultural change: with panic, passivity, or faithful action? What is one specific step of faithful action God may be asking you to take?
